KNOCKIN' PINS 2018

Phi Sigma Kappa is happy to present our 8th annual Knocking Pins With Olympians event!

This year we are continuing our mission that we began last year with our campaign, "Pledge Against the "R" Word." This year's focus is continuing to spread awareness of how harmful and discriminatory the word "retard" can be. The r-word is a hateful, disrespectful word that is often used without an understanding of the damage and impact it can cause to an individual.

Through the help of Greek Life and the Kent State community, we hope to reach our goal of 2,000 pledges against the use of the r-word. As a Greek Community here at Kent State, we have achieved many great things, and our potential is endless. Ending the use of this hateful word is another great thing that our community can tackle. We will be holding different fundraising events throughout the campaign and will be selling PLEDGE AGAINST THE WORD merchandise. All proceeds will go to the Portage County Board of Developmental Disabilities and the Special Olympics.

We will begin our campaign across campus and at the Kent State Student Center on February 12th and our table dates for penny wars will be February 19th-21st on the 2nd floor of the student center.
